To Whom It May Concern:

RE: Gary Anderson – “Clarence Darrow – The Search for Justice”

I have the privilege of serving as the Judicial Education Director for the Idaho Supreme Court. As such, I oversee both the curriculum and also the planning of numerous educational events each year for Idaho’s judiciary and court personnel. This year we had a stroke of tremendous good luck by learning of, and engaging, Mr. Gary Anderson for his presentation of “Clarence Darrow”.

In Idaho we take Clarence Darrow seriously. His defense in the “Big Bill Haywood Trial”, with a favorite son prosecutor, William Borah – who would go on to chair the United States Senate Foreign Affairs Committee – is something of which all Idaho’s legal community has knowledge and great interest. We could be called a “tough” audience.

We asked Mr. Anderson to come to Idaho’s Annual Judicial Conference because we wanted an “after-dinner” program of substance but also which would provide entertainment for our participants and their partners. We were richly rewarded! Indeed, although we could have easily made “Clarence Darrow” part of our regular curriculum, many of the spouses were among those who thanked me profusely for securing Mr. Anderson and his program!

His presentation would be an excellent addition to any judicial training event! I can guarantee that. Indeed, I think his program should be seen and experienced by every law student in America. He truly demonstrates an understanding (through his Darrow) of why we become lawyers – and, yes, judges as well.

Please feel free to call me personally if you have any questions or inquiries. I’d love to tell you about Darrow, er, I mean, Gary Anderson!

Sincerely,

LOWELL D. CASTLETON
